

Excerpt from Commemorative Address: At Royalson, August 23d, 1865; The Hundredth Anniversary of Its Incorporation; With the Poem, Other Proceedings, and an Appendix The object of this volume is to present and transmit the accomplished history of Royalstons First Century. In pursuance of this object prominence has been given to the able and comprehensive Commemoration Address of the Hon. Alexander H. Bullock, delivered at the recent Centennial of the Town. Appended thereto will be found a series of notes, covering materials deemed worthy of preservation, as either illustrating the text and contributing to the fullness of the history therein out-lined, or valuable for future reference. For these materials, obligation is due in great part to the contributions of Benoni Peck, Esq., of Fitzwilliam, - a native, and, till lately, an honored citizen of Royalston, and his son, Henry Peck, of Winchendon, and to the labors of the Historical Committee, whose preparation for our late celebration was both laborious and effective. It was manifestly proper, as certainly it was expected, that some connected report of the Centennial should be given in these pages, and by general consent it was a success.
