

A basically true account of the experiences and adventures of an eight year old boy and his five year old brother evacuated at the start of WW2, and the process of their rapid growing up over the course of the early years of the war. Written as close as possible and as is feasible to the idiom and manner of a young boy. The only real deviation from the truth is the changing of many of the characters'™ names; executed upon legal advice, in order to avoid any offence to them or their families or descendants.
